Student Jake Stojanovski:

Mason is my best friend in the whole wide world!

Miss Ellie Jones:

Today we developed our social skills by enjoying lunch outside as a group.

Jake and Mason shared a conversation over their lunch, responding verbally and non-verbally to his senses; sight, touch, taste, feel and hear. They were very interested in talking about their lunch.

It was delightful seeing their interaction.

Student Jake Stojanovski:

Can we read it again Miss Jones?

Miss Ellie Jones:

Jake continues to enjoy story time, which has evidently been building on his vocabulary and language skills.

If there is a new book to read, Jake will be the first one to get his hands on it.

Keep up the good work!

Miss Ellie Jones:

When growing up as a child there is nothing more important than imagination and play. To build the children's skills in this area we reading many books and sing songs, but the today we were able to bring the stories to life.

Our excursion to Fairy Park allowed the students to listen to fairy tales, while watching the movement of the characters at the press of a button.

The children were also able to have an understanding of fair play, with the children recognising everyone wanted to press the buttons and respecting the order the educators had created for everyone to be able to start a fairy tale.

We also found the student's used their imagination to continue the stories as we moved from one exhibit to another.

The day was a huge success with all students expressing the desire to stay at the venue.
